Oakwood park is one of the most popular parks for the inhabitants of Kaunas. It's a recreational and sporting area.

The park covers about 84 hectares and is the largest oak grove growing within the boundaries of a city across the entire Europe. Most of the trees are oaks ranging in age from 100 to 320 years old. It also holds linden, birch and maple trees.

In 1938 Tadas Ivanauskas established the Kaunas Zoo in the northern corner of the park. Later, in 1966 the Volley of Songs was installed. Each spring, the traditional annual Festival of Songs and Dances held at the Valley of Songs located near Oakwood Park. In 1986 Kaunas Oakwood Park was nominated as a natural monument of state importance.

People improve their conditions but unfortunately it happens by means of nature which suffers a lot.

Human activities that result in air pollution include: emissions from industries and manufacturing activities; burning fossil fuels; household and farming chemicals.

Transportation has become a key part of our lives. Cars and heavy duty trucks burn lots of fossil fuels to work.

We have to remember, that each car on the road is adding pollutants to the air.

There are steps we can take in our everyday life to improve air quality: when purchasing a new car, choose lowest-polluting vehicle or electric car; walk or ride a bike when possible; take public transportation.

The nature will be thankful for us, and we will live healthier and longer.

Žemaitukai is one of the oldest horse breeds in Europe, known from the VI - VII centuries. These horses have helped Lithuanians during the years of war and oppression. They are distinguished by their endurance, grace and obedience. The horses have thin but strong legs, graceful gait. Colors are – brown, chestnut-brown, reddish-brown, black or palomino. Žemaitukai are used for both ridding and farm work.

Once upon a time they were war horses. ŽEMAITUKAS is recognized as an internationally watched breed and included into the FAO World Watch List for Domestic Animal Diversity.

Žemaitukai horse breed is part of our cultural heritage.
